NOTICE OF APPOINTMENT OF ADMINISTRATOR.

NOTICE IS HEREBY GIVEN THAT THE undersigned, Public Administrator of Washoe County, State of Nevada, as such has been duly appointed and qualified by the District Court of the Second Judicial District of the State of Nevada, for Washoe County, as Administrator of the estate of John W. Drotky, late of said county deceased, and all persons having claims against said estate are hereby notified to file the same with proper vouchers with the clerk of said court within sixty days after the first publication of this notice, or the same will be forever barred.

Walking the Floor.

When a business man gets to the point where he cannot sleep at night, where he is so shattered of nerve that it is torture to even remain in his bed, and he has to get up and pace the floor—it is time for that man to bring himself up with a round turn. If he does not, it means nervous prostration and mental, if not physical, death.

For a man who gets into this condition there is a remedy that will brace him up, put him on his feet and make a man of him again. It is Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery. It goes to the bottom of things. It searches out the first cause. When a man is in this condition you can put your finger on one of two spots and hit that first cause—the stomach or the liver or both. This great medicine acts directly on these spots. It promptly transforms a weak stomach into a healthy one. It facilitates the flow of digestive juices and makes digestion and assimilation perfect. It gives a man an appetite like a boy's. It invigorates the liver. It fills the blood with the life-giving elements of the food, and makes it pure, rich, red and plentiful. The blood is the life current, and when it is filled with the elements that build new and healthy tissues, it does not take long to make a man well and strong. It builds firm, muscular flesh, tissue and strong and steady nerve fibers. It puts new life, vigor and vitality into every atom and organ of the body. It cures nervous exhaustion and prostration. Nothing "just as good" can be found at medicine stores.

"I had suffered about eleven years with a pain in the back of my head and back," writes Mr. Robert Hubbard, of Varner, Lincoln Co., Ark. "I suffered for eleven years and spent a great deal of money for doctors and a steady nerve fiber. It promptly transforms a weak stomach into a healthy one. It facilitates the flow of digestive juices and makes digestion and assimilation perfect. It gives a man an appetite like a boy's. It invigorates the liver. It fills the blood with the life-giving elements of the food, and makes it pure, rich, red and plentiful. The blood is the life current, and when it is filled with the elements that build new and healthy tissues, it does not take long to make a man well and strong. It builds firm, muscular flesh, tissue and strong and steady nerve fibers. It puts new life, vigor and vitality into every atom and organ of the body. It cures nervous exhaustion and prostration. Nothing "just as good" can be found at medicine stores.

Purifying the Air.

It is found in many factories that the hands do much more work in a given time if they have good air to breathe. Some firms have quite elaborate provisions for the purifying of the atmosphere of the workrooms.

In the absence of these a simple plan is to put a spoonful of oil of turpentine into a liter bottle of well water, shake it well, and then blow it about the room through an atomizer. An improvement is to mix a few drops of acetate ether with the turpentine.—St. Louis Republic.

Thou-ing.

To persons of lesser rank one saith "You," without thou-ing anybody, be it not some little child, and that thou wert much more aged and that the custom itself amongst the meek courteous and better bred were to speak in such manner. What concerneth familiar friends, amongst them the custom doth comport in certain places that they "thou" one another more freely, in other places one's more reserved.—"Youths' Behavior," 1652.

The Short Skirt in St. Louis.

St. Louis women of fashion have adopted the short rainy day skirt as a part of their walking costume. It may be seen any day on the streets and boulevards.

Boston originated the idea. New York advocated it. Neither adopted it.

In St. Louis and Chicago it has been adopted with such unanimity that dealers in and makers of skirts cannot supply the demand.

St. Louis women say:

This is the thing we long have sought And mourned because we found it not. It is convenient, sensible, labor saving, time economizing, trouble averting and pretty.

The fashionable house skirt which has a demitrain made the short skirt for the street possible. The long skirt drags and becomes soiled, while the short skirt never becomes muddy or dragged around the bottom.

The short skirt, not having to be held up, gives freedom to the hands. The feet cannot become entangled in the short skirt and hinder rapid walking.

It cannot be caught under the feet when climbing stairs.

It is an excellent thing for women who are out of doors a great deal.—St. Louis Post-Dispatch.

Our Coal Production.

"Not many people," says a coal miner quoted by the Washington Star, "are probably aware that the coal mined in the United States annually is worth more than three times as much as the gold mined here. The product of the anthracite fields alone exceeds in value the output of the gold mines of this country. Canada and Alaska, which last year amounted to over $50,000,000 East of the Rocky mountains there are 192,000 square miles of coal lands, and the yearly output is nearly 200,000,000 tons."

WORDS OF WISDOM.

The Tascara Times-Review in commenting upon an article in the Lyon County Times, in which the acts of the Silver party boss, since the election, were severely scored, says:

Anyone who was at all observant of the methods used in placing the S. P. in power at the Reno convention, could easily grasp the intentions of the movement. The name was to be used as a shibboleth to install in positions of profit the tools of the corporation. The best interests of the State and fidelity to the great cause for which the party was originally organized were lost sight of in the disgusting and unseemly scramble for place. It was a contest for spoils, not principles, and the results but truly reflected the selfishness which actuated the convention. The party is just as good as the men who controlled it, and nothing better can be expected of it. "Figs do not grow on thistles."

Stripped of its harshness, the maxim, "To the victors belong the spoils," is good politics, as it simply means that to the dominant party should be entrusted the reins of government and carried with it the assumption of all responsibility to the people for the correct administration of the same. Under normal conditions the policy carried out is as strong a weapon in the hands of the minority as in the majority, and no party, however powerful, can long continue in corruption without alienating the better element, which we are optimistic enough to believe is always in the majority. The Silver party has reached that stage of its existence when it must crumble of its own rottenness, and while we must bear yet awhile with the discomforts of its misdeeds and shortcomings, the ultimate results cannot fail to be beneficial. The Silver party has written its own obituary on the statutes, and fertilized by its corruption, a purer and better political growth will result.

The Virginia Report and Carson Appeal are at loggerheads in regard to the facts concerning the history of the Constitutional Convention bill. Although they both attempted to defend the Governor for his veto, they take different routes, both of which lead nowhere, and the natural consequence is that no point, germane to the matter, has been reached by either. The person or persons who could give the true inwardness of the business have not yet, and probably never will, enlighten the public in print.

WHERE was Stewart when the vote was taken on the passage of the Nicaragua Canal bill? How Wm. M. Stewart, the silver champion, who never knows when to quit, was studying how to put a silver rider on the bill. He did not vote in favor of the Nicaragua canal bill, because they would not allow a silver rider on the bill. He did not attempt to put on a silver rider on the Dingley high protective tariff bill.—"Quelquesfois" in the Genoa Courier.

We often hear men talking about "sound money" and saying that this country "must have a money that is good in Europe," who would not know a ten-dollar gold piece from a dog tag.—Utah State Journal.

WILLIAM K. VANDERBILT will not come into possession of his millions until next autumn; until then he will have to get along on $1,000 a day. This is a hardship which the newspaper men of Nevada are likely to undergo.

QUAY of Pennsylvania is reported to be sick and discouraged. Let him take heart. The country will manage to get along very well, even if he does have to give up his seat in the Senate.

MR. REED emphasizes his denial of the oft-repeated rumor that he is about to retire from public life by declaring that he will not be a candidate for the Vice-Presidency next year.

MR. CLEVELAND has not been invited to either of the New York banquets, the committees probably supposing he would prefer to eat by correspondence.

THERE is another rumor from Washington to the effect that Alger is about to resign. It is probably one of those things that are too good to be true.

MRS. LEASE has repudiated the Democratic party and some Democrats are ungallant enough to go around bragging about it.

SILENCE is golden. Ergo—goldbugs should keep their mouths shut.

An Enterprising Firm.

The W. T. Hitt Co. waves its banner to the breeze through the columns of the JOURNAL, in the form of a large display ad. This company carries a large and well selected stock of hardware, groceries, farming implements of the latest and most improved patterns and which are manufactured by the oldest and best known factories in the United States, which is a guarantee of first-class material and workmanship. Farmers in need of implements for agricultural purposes can certainly get the best by patronizing the W. T. Hitt Co. Since taking possession of the business the store has been thoroughly overhauled, remodeled, papered and renovated in the interior, and painters are now occupied improving the appearance of the exterior.

A Daring Robbery

Some time during Thursday night the residence of F. M. Lee was entered by burglars. Notwithstanding the fact that Mr. Lee and others were asleep in the house not a sound was heard, even the dog was not disturbed so quietly was the work done. Mr. Lee says he awoke towards morning, but cannot state whether it was the presence of the robber that caused it, as he is not conscious of having heard anything that would arouse him. After awakening he decided to see what time it was, so got up, lit the gas and looked at his watch, which he had put under the pillow. After looking at his time piece and noting that it was 5 o'clock he noticed that the bedroom door was open, which struck him as rather singular as he had closed it upon retiring. Further investigation revealed the fact that his clothes and the chair upon which they were lying was missing. A thorough search was immediately instituted, but revealed nothing but the chair. The clothes and $40 contained therein were gone. The officers were notified, but at this writing nothing has been discovered to lead to the apprehension of the culprit, so far as the JOURNAL reporter could ascertain. The warm weather that is upon us has caused the vast army of hobos, criminals and toughs generally to leave their winter quarters and start out for their annual trips throughout the country, and residents of all railroad towns especially will have to keep a watchful eye upon their belongings or they may suffer the experience that Mr. Lee has had the misfortune to undergo. Keep your doors and windows locked.

Cool wave will cross west of Rockies country about 18th, great central valleys 20th, Eastern States 22nd.

Precipitation will average about normal generally.

Robbed the Grave.

A startling incident, of which Mr. John Oliver of Philadelphia, was the subject, is narrated by him as follows: "I was in the most dreadful condition. My skin was almost yellow, eyes sunken, tongue coated, pain continually in back and sides, no appetite—gradually growing weaker day by day. Three physicians had given me up. Fortunately, a friend advised trying 'Electric Bitters,' and to my great joy and surprise, the first bottle made a decided improvement. I continued their use for three weeks, and am now a well man. I know they saved my life, and robbed the grave of another victim." No one should fail to try them. Only 50 cts per bottle at S. J. Hodgkinson's Drug Store.

May Victory be Thine.

The State University basket ball team left on yesterday morning's west bound train to cope with their rivals at Berkeley and Stanford. The young ladies were sanguine of success and they left with the sincere wishes of all Renoites that they would return with the laurels of victory on their Easter hats.

A DEADLY CANE.

An Innocent Looking Instrument Which Would Destroy Life.

"Anarchists of the physical force school find it now and again irresistible to brag of the powerful things they have used or are going to use," says a writer in The Ludgate. "We will suppose that some aristocratic person has been chosen as a victim. The exact pattern of his favorite walking stick would be noted as occasion arose and a fac simile of it prepared—that is to say, so far as mere outward appearances were concerned."

"The interior would really be an infernal machine. Inside the hollow of the stick would be a metal flask containing a liquid which could emerge only from a small orifice at the top of the flask. The flask would be imbedded within a substance which would explode the instant that the liquid referred to came into contact with it."

"When an opportunity occurred for the stick to be substituted for its innocent counterpart, the handle would be unscrewed to a slight extent, thus allowing a space for the liquid to now out, which it would do when the stick was held in a horizontal position. Most men occasionally carry their sticks in this way. So, when the victim took his supposed usual stick from the corner in which it had been placed upright, he might walk about with it for a long period without encountering actual harm, but once let him hold it horizontally or twirl it in the air there would be—well, you can imagine the result."

Steeple Clock Dials.

Difficulty is experienced in accurately reading the time of elevated clocks on account of the distance between the minute hand and the figures. Seen from below, the apparent reading may be a minute or two wrong when the hand is not at 12 or 6 on account of this distance. The perspective throws the hand out of position and gives it an apparent upward position. On the first quarter this makes the reading slow, on the last quarter fast. A proposed method of correcting this is to make the clock face concave so that the tip of the hand will almost graze the figures. Then the time can be accurately read from below.

A Trick of Style.

A woman who declares she cannot afford to buy bound books invested in a Russia leather book cover the other day. It has pockets at the ends into which to slip the covers of the books one is reading. It is very handsome, and it cost $5.

When she wraps all this gorgeousness around a 10 cent copy of "Lorna Doone" or a 25 cent edition of "Pendennis," she is placid, happy and unashamed and doesn't think she was extravagant. — New York Commercial Advertiser.

BURNING OF SAN ROQUE.

How Astrillia and his Three Thousand Men Were Routed.

The following is from the Freedom, published at Manila, a copy of which was recently received from Robert Heritage, a member of the Nevada Cavalry. As the Nevada Troop took part in the thrilling event, it will doubtless prove interesting to many of our readers.

CAVITE, Feb. 24.

The burning of San Roque and the complete routing of the insurgent General Astrillia and his army of about 3,000 on February 24th was a complete success, and much credit is due to the Iowa Infantry, California Artillery and Nevada Cavalry for the quick and effective manner in which the work was accomplished.

General Astrillia had been warned that he must raise a white flag over his headquarters and lay down his arms by 9 o'clock on the morning of the 24th or our forces would bombard and take the city. No one expected that he would surrender, and it was with some surprise that shortly before the appointed time one of the largest white flags yet brought into service was hoisted over the insurgent block house. Col. Lopez of the Iowa regiment, who is in command here, and his advisors, put but little confidence in the faith of the insurgents however, and instead of sending only a few men over to treat with the insurgent leaders the forces were at once well ready for an attack.

It was well that no faith was placed in the flag of truce for as soon as the treacherous insurgents saw that our forces were not going to fall into their trap, they poured out of a hidden rifle pit where they had been stationed and began to apply the torch to every building in their reach, hoping in this manner to delay the advance of the American forces long enough to allow them to retreat, which plan worked very successfully as it was some time before it was safe to start in pursuit, and even then the second and third battalions of the Wyoming boys with their beautiful three inch pieces could get no further than the causeway as their guns were too heavy to allow them to make the speed necessary to carry them through the mass of burning and falling buildings upon every hand. So to the Iowans and Californians alone was left the task of driving off the insurgents and preventing any further spread of the conflagration. The Iowans, consisting of companies E, C, L, M, G, I, B and K under command of Majors Hume and More respectively, and Batteries A and D of the California Artillery armed with Springfield and several small Gatlings gave chase. It was through a raging furnace that they charged and right well did they do their duty. The eight companies of Iowans deployed so as to form a complete line across the entire town and then onward through the burning city they pressed, closely followed by the artillerymen under Major Rice. Up one street they would go only to find it blocked with burning ruins, then down another where, perhaps, they might get through, though often compelled to retire to the coast and plunge into the bay to their watery doom in order to pass burning obstructions the fleeing insurgents had erected to cover their hasty retreat.

For about five miles through fire and water our forces pushed onward, when they were halted and a camp prepared, which camp is now our outpost and has been thoroughly entrenched, and is now defended by the Third battalion of the Iowans, part of Batteries A and D of the California, Battery A of the Wyoming Artillery and Troop A of the Nevada Cavalry. The Second battalion of Iowa was ordered back to Cavite, which city they now hold, the First battalion having been ordered to Manila to do duty on the outposts there.

There was no loss of life on our side, though one of the Iowa boys was badly cut by a knife in the hands of a sneaking native, whose life paid the penalty for the cowardly attempt he had made. It is not known what the insurgent loss was, but as several are known to have fallen before the deadly Springfields while engaged in their hellish work of spreading the fires, and many others remain have been found in the ruins, while several bodies have since been discovered in the woods near the outpost, it is thought that their loss was considerable.

This is the first opportunity that the boys have had to show their skill, but from the way they did their duty during this dangerous day it is safe to say that if ever given a chance they will prove themselves worthy the good name they bear.

Reno Theatians at Wadsworth.

The Reno Dramatic Club left on yesterday morning's train for Wadsworth, where they presented last night the melo-drama, "The Black Flag," which they so successfully produced at the Opera House in Reno. There were twenty persons in the company, including a portion of Hoskins' orchestra band, and the JOURNAL's local, who, one of the company informed us confidentially, would enact the role of flag-pole for the sombre-hued banner. The performance was given at the town hall at Wadsworth, where doubtless the audience, as in Reno, enjoyed a rare dramatic treat.

LADIES TO THE FRONT.

Town Improvement Discussed at the Twentieth Century Club.

The topic for discussion before the club yesterday afternoon was one that should interest every person that has any love for the community in which they live or any aspiration in seeing a betterment of existing conditions. The fact that a large number of ladies are concerned about Reno's welfare was evinced by the audience present at the meeting and the enthusiasm displayed.

Mrs. Orr, as leader of the afternoon, presented a well written paper on the subject, "Town Improvement," showing wherein it was possible for the Twentieth Century Club to aid in the good work of improving our town. She urged the combined effort of the ladies with that of the Improvement Association, which has been organized for about a year, but which has, owing to the lack of co-operation, been unable to accomplish anything tangible. Mrs. Orr said she felt confident that if the members of the club would aid the association in every way possible by their presence at the meetings and by serving on committees, the work could be pushed so that in a short time many improvements would be noted. The subjects of a public library, cleaner streets, defacement of property and the nuisance attendant upon every entertainment at the Opera House, were discussed at length. Mrs. Bray, Mrs. Miller, Miss Loder and others made valuable suggestions.

One matter which will aid in arousing among the children an interest in flora culture and horticulture was the offering of a prize to the child under twelve years who will show the best vegetable garden, and also a prize for the best flower garden. A committee was appointed to consider the rules governing the same. The names of all competitors will be handed in, and later a number of judges will decide on the prize winners. All particulars will be published later.

In order to hasten the work under discussion the following resolution was unanimously adopted and ordered sent to the President of the Improvement Association:

Resolved, That the Twentieth Century Club, realizing the importance of town improvement, hereby extend to the Town Improvement Society their hearty support and co-operation.

Mrs. J. E. BRAY,
Mrs. L. C. BOOTH,
Miss MATTIE CRUM,
Committee.

Fish Grabbers.

Six men were arrested yesterday for grabbing trout. The parties apprehended consisted of two Japanese, one Chinaman and three white men. It is to be hoped that their apprehension will serve as a warning to others who are known to be pursuing the same tactics. A determined effort is going to be made to stop the slaughter of fish and no one who is caught in the act will be spared.

A number of young boys are known to be catching fish by questionable means, and it is the duty of parents to inform the boys of the punishment that will surely follow by persisting in such acts, and thereby avoid the disgrace that will follow an arrest and conviction of a wanton violation of the law.

RESERVATION IMPROVEMENTS

Which Will Double the Supply of Water for Irrigation.

S. S. Sears, post-trader at the Pyramid Lake reservation, was in town yesterday. Mr. Sears informs the JOURNAL that the new ditch at the reservation will be completed in the course of two or three weeks. The ditch is twelve feet in width on top and eight feet in depth, making an average of about six feet in width. It commences at the old dam and runs up the stream a mile, striking the bottom of the river at the head. This avoids the necessity for a dam, as the ditch will receive the water directly from the river. The new will connect with the old ditch at the dam, which will be taken down, thereby removing all obstruction to fish up and down the stream. In fact, such obstruction is already removed, as Superintendent Spriggs has caused a portion of the dam to be torn down to a sufficient extent to allow free passage for the fishy inhabitants of the stream.

With the new ditch the volume of water for irrigation will be nearly doubled. Some of the land on the west side of the river is the best on the reservation, but has remained uncultivated because there was no water on that side for irrigation. This difficulty will be removed by the construction of a flume across the river from the east to the west side, thereby dividing the water proportionately as it is needed on each side of the stream. Uncle Sam has been liberal in his outlay for the benefit of the Piute branch of his aboriginal family, who, with the late improvements at their reservation, ought to be able to live comfortably without exceeding the limit of Indian industry.

Mr. Sears speaks in high terms of Superintendent Spriggs and his management of the affairs of the reservation.

Free Delivery Carriers.

When arrangements for free postal delivery service in Reno are completed there will be two letter carriers to be appointed. The salary at first will be fifty dollars per month for each carrier, which, under the regulations of the department, may in time be increased to $900 per annum. A civil service examination of applicants will probably be held here some time in May. The principal questions, we presume, will be in relation to the three "R's"—reading, riting and rithmetic. The applicants must be between the ages of 21 and 40 years.

Here is a chance for a lively contest between the young men of Reno who want the positions, as they will be given to the two passing the best examinations.

Washing Made Easy.

A friend of mine said she grew rebellious because of having to cook; that she grew irritable and unhappy over it. It was the after cleaning of the cooking vessels that was the most distasteful to her. She determined to take herself in hand and subdue the ugly spirit, as she termed it. She studied over the problem, trying to make the work less irksome by adopting means to enable her to do it more quickly and also to save her hands and not to come in contact so often with the greasy iron vessels. She made mops with long handles and bought her a half dozen linen crash towels and made a soap which cuts the grease and also purifies and cleans quickly, taking about half the usual time. The soap is made thus. Dissolve three ounces of borax in two parts of warm water. Add two bars of good white soap shaved fine, and stir all to gether in a jar until it is melted. When cool, it will form a jelly. A tablespoonful of this will make a strong lather in a gallon of water and will be good for cleaning any iron or porcelain lined vessel. It is also excellent for washing windows and general housecleaning. She persevered in trying to overcome the dislike to cooking and cleaning, and by making the work attractive and easier saved time to devote to more pleasant pursuits. The homemaker must study to be with her family all she can. She must study to overcome petty dislikes and to learn the lesson of sweet submission to the inevitable.

Birds' Nests.

Many birds vary the composition of the outer layer of the nest according to the circumstances. If the nest is located among growing leaves, the outer layer will be of green moss; if on a dark branch, of natural colored lichens.

Heat and Fuel Savers.

How long are you going to "get along" with that old cookstove that burns more fuel than a furnace and heats the outdoors more than it does the oven?

A very little money will buy one of our cookstoves—you'll save the price in fuel in one season. It will keep the heat where it ought to be, and cook your food as it ought to be cooked. Come in and examine them.

How Balloons Are Made.

Balloons are manufactured of gold beater's skin, which, though small toy ones had been made of it, could not be produced in sufficient quantities for the large balloons until Colonel Temple invented and perfected the process, which is briefly as follows:

The gold beater's skin is made up of quantities of a certain thin animal membrane (30,000 of these are required for a balloon of 10,000 cubic feet capacity), which is first freed from all fatty substances and then soaked in a solution of glycerin and water. They are then applied to boards cut in the form and to the size of the gore of the balloon required. Others are then superposed, until a thickness of four layers has been reached, great care being taken that no air bubbles remain between the skins. After this fourth layer a method of strengthening is resorted to in the shape of a net manufactured of skin. After this net two or three more layers of membranes are applied.

The whole is then allowed to dry, and a solution of boiled linseed oil is used as a varnish. The fabric is then quite indissoluble, and the membranes cannot by any possible means be separated from one another, but sometimes, to render this homogeneity the more perfect, a solution of bichromate of potash is sponged over the fabric.—Pall Mall Magazine.

Beautiful Viennese Women.

Vienna, the capital of Austria, is chiefly noted for producing three things—coffee, music and women. The word "jolly" describes the temper of the Viennese woman most aptly. She lives only for today and lets the morrow take care of itself. She is as good a housekeeper as her German sister, but not quite so particular. She is quite as economical, but dresses herself more artistically. She is just as good a mother, but a more loving wife. She is somewhat nervous, and the quarrel with her husband is as regular as the amen in her prayer. The truest and prettiest type of the beautiful Viennese woman is that which comes from the south. In common with the majority of her European sisters, the Viennese makes marriage her goal, but retains her girlish ways, her jolly spirit and much of her beauty, and even to guess at her age is not only a crime, but an absurdity.—Edward A. Steiner in Woman's Home Companion.

Blankets of Bark.

In Ecuador, one of the South American republics, the bark of a tree which grows on the slopes of the Andes is utilized for the making of blankets. The blanket is over six feet long and over five feet wide and is as soft and pliable as though it were made of flannel. It is about the thickness of a good flannel blanket and can be rolled up and put in a strap without hurting or injuring it.

This tree or bark blanket is merely a strip of bark cut from a section of the trunk of the blanket or demajagua tree. The Indians make a cutting around the trunk to get it, and they prepare it by soaking it in water until it is soft. It is then pounded so that the rough outside can be stripped off and the inside alone left. The inside is of fine fibers so joined together by nature that it makes a beautiful blanket, warm enough to be used as a cover and soft enough for a mattress.

Poison Hemlock.

Water hemlock is a deadly plant common in most country neighborhoods. Its roots are eaten often in spring by mistake for some edible root, and death frequently results. Cattle are often poisoned by drinking water in marshes where it grows.

The poison hemlock from which the Greeks made poisons is a near relative to the water hemlock. It stands from two to seven feet high and has clusters of small white flowers and large, parsleylike leaves. The stalk, being hollow, is often made into whistles by country boys, and many children are poisoned in this fashion.

Mixed Berries.

A young tailor named Berry, lately succeeded to his father's business, once sent in his account to Charles Matthews somewhat ahead of time, whereupon Matthews, with virtuous rage, wrote him the following note:

"You must be a goose—Berry to send me your bill—Berry, before it is due—Berry. Your father, the elder—Berry, would have had more sense. You may look very black—Berry, and feel very blue—Berry, but I don't care a straw—Berry for you and your bill—Berry."—Cyclopaedia of Anecdotes.

Salt For Small Change.

Besides the Maria Theresa 1780 dollars the people of Abyssinia for small change use a bar of hard crystallized salt, about 10 inches long and 3½ inches broad and thick, slightly tapering toward the end, five of which go to the dollar at the capital. It is a token of affection among the natives when friends meet to give to each other a lick of their respective bars, and in this way the material value of the salt is also decreased.

Didn't Stammer All the Time.

An electrical engineer who stutters once endeavored to be cured of the habit, and for that purpose went to an institution near Boston. The manager, questioning him, asked:

"Do you stammer all the time?"

"Nun-nun-nun-no, sir; o-o-o-only wuh-wuh-wuh-when I t-t-t-talk, sir."—Electrical Review.
